

Disclosure of Honda's Political Contributions

Honda has established a Policy Governing Political Contributions and Disclosure in the United States. That Policy calls for disclosure on a semiannual basis of the company's political contributions for the prior six month period.

Honda's policy and past reports can be found online at <http://csr.honda.com/what-we-believe/governance/hondas-political-activities-and-disclosure/>.

The following is Honda's seventh semi-annual report since the enactment of the policy in January 2014.

Political Activities for Period of January 1, 2018 – June 30, 2018

Name of Vice President, Government and Industry Relations responsible for administering this policy: Edward B. Cohen, edward\_cohen@hna.honda.com

Changes to Political Activities Policy during This Period:

- 1) This policy, originally titled "Honda Policy Governing Political Activities and Disclosure in the United States" was renamed "Honda Policy Governing Political Contributions and Disclosure in the United States" in order to more accurately reflect the content of the report. Corresponding changes were made throughout the policy.
- 2) Language was added to reflect Honda's policy regarding the political action committees (PACs) of Honda's various trade associations.

Type of Contribution	Contribution Made To	Amount	Date	Approved By
Candidate	N/A	0	N/A	N/A
Ballot Initiative	N/A	0	N/A	N/A
Third Party Entity	N/A	0	N/A	N/A
Political party Convention	N/A	0	N/A	N/A
Trade Association	N/A	0	N/A	N/A

Note: Honda does not maintain a political action committee (PAC) but several of our trade associations do. Honda's dues to those trade associations are not used to make political contributions through those PACs. A small portion of our dues to those trade associations may be used to cover the costs associated with establishing and administering those PACs
